

Rebecca Hooper Bio

Rebecca Hooper is an accomplished educator and instructional leader with over a decade of service in the Laurel community. Since moving to Laurel in 2011 to help plant Agape Church, she has dedicated her career to both education and community engagement, beginning as a science teacher with the Laurel School District and later advancing into district leadership as Coordinator of Science and Social Studies Instructional Programs.

A National Board-Certified teacher, Rebecca holds advanced degrees in educational leadership and curriculum and instruction, and has contributed to state and national education initiatives through roles such as scoring prospective teacher portfolios and mentoring emerging educators. Her work consistently centers on improving student outcomes, supporting teachers, and expanding access to high-quality STEM education.
